What children will practice: Listening for the same starting sound in silly alliteration sentences.

How to use:

1. Read the silly sentence together.
2. Listen for the repeated starting sound.
3. Say the sentence slowly and then quickly.
4. Colour the picture or talk about the words.
5. Make up your own silly alliteration sentences!

Tips:

- Exaggerate the starting sound for fun.
- These pages build phonological awareness.
- Great for speaking and listening skills.

Sentences included:

- Sally sells seashells
- Peter Piper picked peppers
- Busy bees buzz by the bushes
- Extra alliteration practice
