What children will practice: Tracing paths with purpose — helping characters reach their goals.

How to use:

1. Talk about the picture: What is the bee trying to reach? Where is the car going?
2. Trace the dotted path carefully with a pencil.
3. Start at the character and finish at the destination.
4. Encourage steady, controlled hand movements.
5. Celebrate when they help the character arrive!

Tips:

- Point to the start and the finish before tracing.
- Use a finger first to 'walk' the path.
- Laminate for dry-erase reuse.
- These pages build fine-motor skills and directionality.

Themes included:

- Bee to flower
- Car to garage
- Rocket to moon
- Dog to bone
- Rain from clouds
- Snail trail
- Fish swimming
- Bunny hops
- And more!

Help the Bee Reach the Flower

Trace the path so the bee can get to the flower.

Help the Car Drive to the Garage

Trace the road so the car can get home to the garage.

Help the Rocket Fly to the Moon

Trace the path so the rocket can reach the moon.

Help the Dog Find the Bone

Trace the path so the dog can reach the bone.

Help the Rain Fall from the Cloud

Trace the path of the raindrops falling down.

Trace the snail's slow, curving trail.

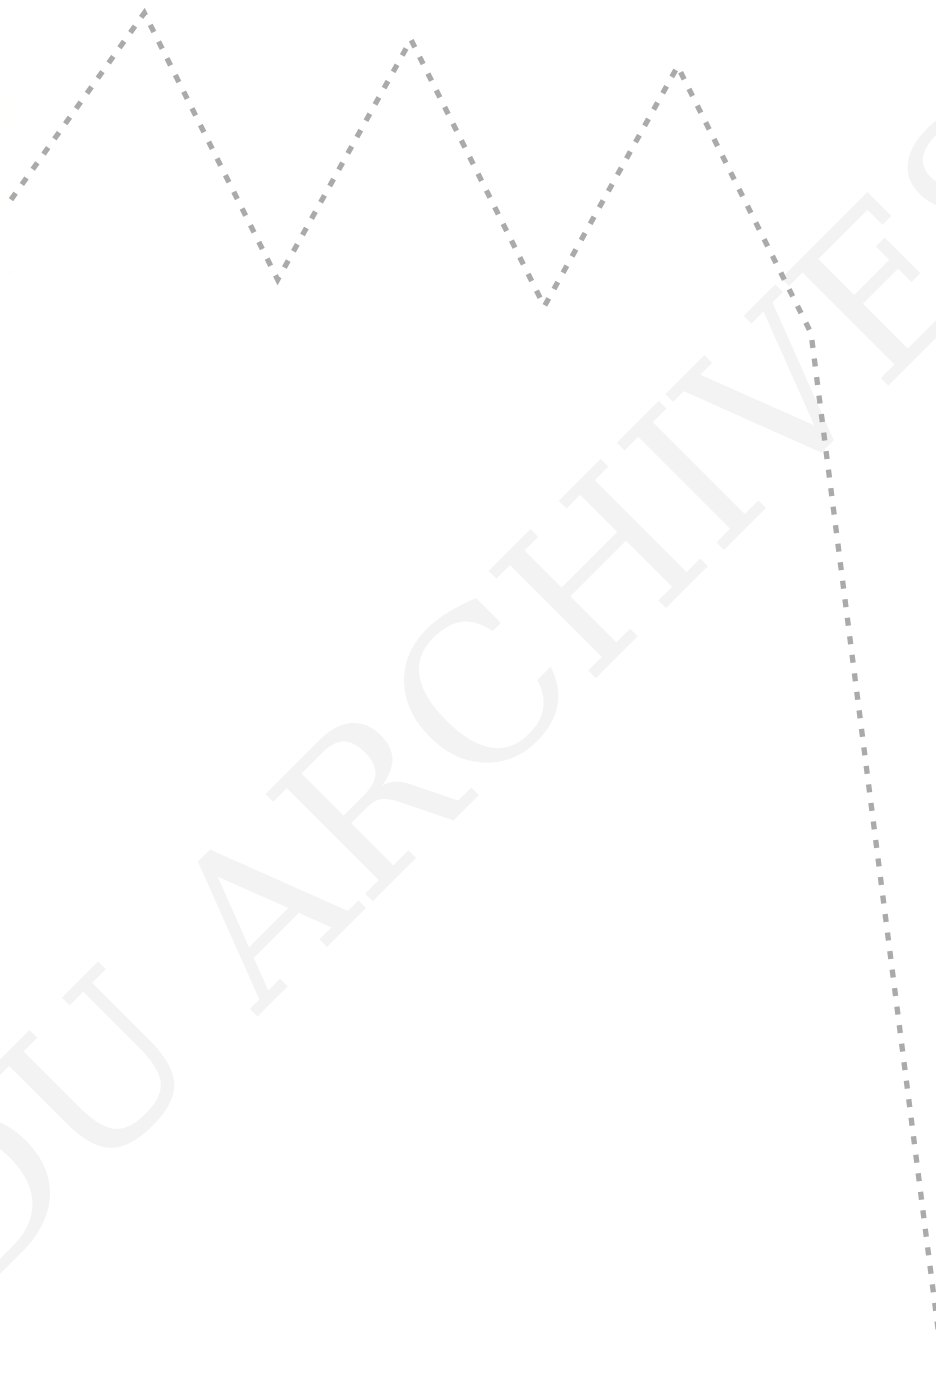

Help the Fish Swim

Trace the path so the fish can swim across the page.

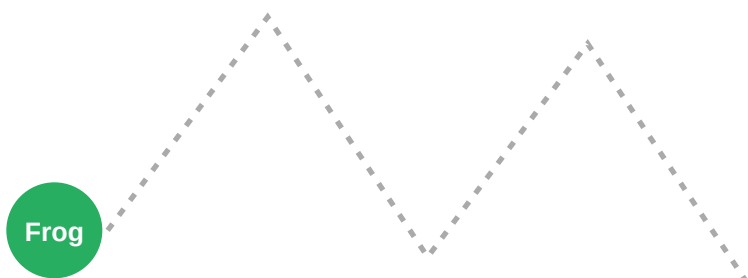

Follow the Bunny Hops

Trace the hopping path of the bunny.

Frog Jumps & Butterfly Flight

Trace the frog's jumps and the butterfly's flight path.

Trace these extra paths carefully.
